Dear Friends:

Do you find yourself revisiting memories of your time at the University of Redlands: your first 8 a.m. class, meeting your roommates for the first time, or the late night exchanges of ideas and beliefs in the dorm with your new friends? Redlands may not be the center of our lives anymore but, as a part of our reunion, we can still have a close connection with it.

We all have warm memories about how great the Redlands experience was both educationally and socially. It has influenced our lives the past 60 years. As alumni we know how important the Redlands experience is and we especially want to give other students the chance to share that experience.

As we celebrate our 60th Reunion we can do just that: give the Redlands experience to U of R students by making a gift to the University. Our class gift will support scholarships and financial aid and demonstrate that we care about today's students. Join us in making a connection between the Class of '54 and current Redlands students by making a gift.

Together we can help a new generation of students become connected to the Redlands experience. We all have different priorities but know that your gift – of any size – will be important to the students. Your participation is what is most significant. We look forward to seeing you at the 60th Class Reunion on May 16-18, 2014!

Best Wishes,

Annette Lilly
