(714) 553-8851
The Fullerton Arboretum encompasses 26 acres with a plant collection of over 4,000 plants and a "farm-to-fork" teaching garden. The farm produces fresh vegetables for Hart Community Homes, a local non-profit organization founded by Bill Hart ('64). The home houses orphaned teen boys and teaches them skills in harvesting and preparing food for restaurants. The projects this year will include laying railroad ties and hauling decomposed granite for new pathways in addition to gardening tasks, including trimming and clearing brush, digging, raking, and planting.
